

Section 14 Master Street Plan Approved

Building Permits Authorized Now

The long sought, important master street plan for Section 14, in downtown Palm Springs, was approved by City Council last night, and construction permits will now be issued on the one-mile square of land.

Halted some years ago because of the lack of a planned road system in the section, local Indians as well as many local citizens and potential developers suffered because building permits could not be issued on interior lands.

LAST NIGHT'S action by the council, which followed approval of the plan by the Agua Caliente Indians, cleared another hurdle toward the improvement of Indian lands which have for many years been locked against improvement. Chief Building Inspector Jack Sanders said today that permits could be issued for projects on Section 14, but must be subject to dedication and improvement of the roads.

WITH THE COMPLETION of the master street plan, Phil Abrams, director of Public Works, said that plans are already on the drawing boards, and dedication of land is being sought, for the pushing through of Caballeros Drive from Alejo Road to Tahquitz Drive, 100 feet in width. He indicated that the project would be done by the first of the year.

And one of the first major projects to be announced for the interior of the section will be a new Rehabilitation and Convalescent Center on Caballeros Drive and Tahquitz-McCallum.

At a cost of nearly $750,000, and planned by Architects Wexler and Harrison, the new center has been approved by the Planning Commission and was up for approval by the council last night.

The council continued its approval of the Planning Commission recommendation to allow the project until its next meeting on Nov. 23.

THE NEW CENTER will be located on a five-acre plot of land, and will have a total of 104 beds when completed.

It was pointed out by the applicants that this facility was not a hospital and would have no hospital facilities.

Attorney Barton L. Schuman represented Dr. Max Levine, builder of the center, at the council session last night.

Board to Hear Junior High School Report

The Palm Springs Unified School District board will convene in the Palm Springs High School music room at 7:30 p.m. tonight, and reconvene in the Nellie N. Coffman Junior High School cafeteria for comparative reports on the Conant report on the nation's junior high schools.

In the junior high session, comparisons will be made between the junior high school operation here, and the recommendations of Dr. James B. Conant for junior high schools. Conant's recent report was preceded by a 1959 report on "The American High School Today."

Conant, educated at Harvard University, was president of the school from 1933 to 1953, and served in governmental positions including ambassador to Germany since 1953. His studies were made under a grant from the Carnegie Corporation.

Regular school board business will include consideration of a site acquisition and road improvement in Desert Hot Springs, and approval of working drawings for the High School arts and crafts building.

TWO KILLED, EIGHT INJURED IN AREA

INDIO — Two men were killed and eight injured in three auto accidents in the Desert area yesterday, the California Highway Patrol said today.

Deard are Robert Hill Spencer, 35, of the Vista Dunes Trailer Park in Indio; and Odie Ray Armstrong, 44, of 83-196 Sonora Street, Indio.

INJURED IN THE accident which killed Spencer and Armstrong, were Mrs. Katherine Spencer, 35. The accident occurred at 9:30 p.m. at Jackson and Canal Streets.

The California Highway Patrol reported that Spencer, Armstrong and Mrs. Spencer were thrown from Spencer's 1959 pickup truck after Spencer had overshot a narrow road at the top of a canal dike.

The CHP explained that Spencer had climbed a 36 foot dike embankment to demonstrate the pulling power of his vehicle, and the vehicle overturned when he missed the road at the top of the bank and crashed down the other side.

A FOURTH passenger in the pickup, Ray Moody, 45, of 83-196 Sonora Street, had gotten out of the truck after a first unsuccessful attempt by Spencer to climb the steep embankment.

Six persons were injured in a two car collision at the junction of Highway 99 and 60-70 here at 4:50 p.m., Wednesday, when a car driven by Mrs. Billye Audrey Cook, 40, of Long Beach, reportedly turned left on Highway 99 into the path of a northbound car driven by Mrs. Lednor Velasquez Rodriguez, 34, of Indio.

INJURED WERE Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Rodriguez, A. A. Floyd, 70, of Long Beach, Mrs. Ruby Floyd, 63, Ruby Cook, 2, Long Beach, and Martina Rodriguez, 19, of Indio.

Luba Glatt, 443 South Alexandria Street, near Palm Springs, was injured at approximately 10:30 p.m. on East Ramon Road, when the car in which she was riding collided with a vehicle which had attempted to pull left from the right shoulder of the road into a service station near LaPaloma Street in the Outpost Estates area.

The CHP reported that Duane Vincent Ramseyer, 37, of 1015 North Stanley Avenue, Los Angeles, drove into the path of Mrs. Olga Waks, 35, of 622 Warm Sands Drive, Palm Springs, as Mrs. Waks was driving west on Ramon Road. Ramseyer was cited for an unsafe turning movement.

WESTERN TO ADD SECOND FLIGHT HERE ON DEC. 1

Western Airlines will add a second flight on Dec. 1, which will offer a total of 130 WAL passenger seats en route to and from Los Angeles daily, Gene Boyer, local manager, announced today.

The second flight has been requested previously by City Council, with WAL officials explaining that passenger traffic did not warrant it during the early fall months.

The new non-stop flight will arrive here from Los Angeles at 10:17 a.m. and return at 11. The present flight arrives at 2:20 p.m. and leaves at 3. Passenger capacity on each plane is 65.

Advisers Meetings Planned

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — President Eisenhower today offered to meet with President-elect John F. Kennedy "at any mutually convenient time" to ease the transition from Republican to Democratic control of the government.

The President also invited Kennedy to designate representatives to work with his top White House aide, retired Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, to assure continuity in U.S. foreign policy.

EISENHOWER SAID Persons had been assigned "co-ordinating responsibility" and would set up meetings between Kennedy advisers and present cabinet department heads until the formal change of command Jan. 20, gram on Wednesday.

Both offers were made in a telegram sent Wednesday to the incoming chief executive at his Hyannis Port, Mass., headquarters and released today by Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty.

EISENHOWER ALSO recommended that one of Kennedy's advisers confer with Budget Director Maurice H. Stans to keep informed of the preparations on the budget for the year starting next July 1.

It appeared from the wire that the President, a caustic critic of Kennedy during the election campaign, would try to help his young successor get the "new frontier" administration under way without difficulty.

EISENHOWER OMITTED any personal greeting or expression of regards in signing the telegram only with his full name, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Hagerty said after talking by telephone with Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press assistant, that the Kennedy reply apparently was delayed.

But it was expected that the president-elect would take advantage of Eisenhower's offer to get an inside view of government problems in the 70 days before inauguration.

Driver of Car Exonerated by Coroner's Jury

A coroner's jury here Wednesday morning exonerated Phillip Morris Barnes, 23, of Thousand Palms, of the death of Salvatore Alaimo, 23, who died at 4 a.m. Sunday in Desert Hospital.

The jury, called by Riverside County Coroner Ben White, ruled that Barnes was not guilty of negligence in the death. The jurors ruled Alaimo fell from the fender of Barnes car at approximately 7:30 p.m., Saturday. Alaimo had reportedly attempted to smash through the left front window of the Barnes vehicle to engage Barnes in a fight. Barnes drove away, with Alaimo holding on to the side of the moving vehicle, and fell onto East Ramon Road.

Barnes still faces manslaughter charges filed by Palm Springs police. He is held in lieu of $2,500 bail, pending an arraignment on the charge.

County Seeks Bids on Palm Desert Road

Frontage Roadway
Bids Called for
By Supervisors

PALM DESERT — Civic and business leaders here were advised Tuesday that the Riverside County Board of Supervisors have called for bids on the new 1.37 mile frontage road here for 4 p.m. Nov. 30.

The project, estimated at $54,484, will extend on the south side of Highway 111 from Highway 74 to the Deep Canyon Road on the east. Construction is tentatively planned to begin in January, county observers reported.

ROAD COMMISSIONER A. C. Keith, who joined supervisor George Berkey to recommend the project, said property owners have agreed to give the southern 20 foot half of the 40 foot width, and to contribute $3 per lineal foot of the 7,233 feet toward the project.

Don McNeilly, manager of the Chamber of Commerce here which has sponsored the development, said the road will remove obstacles to vision from Highway 111, and will alleviate traffic congestion on the through road.

PARKING FACILITIES are being provided behind stores on the frontage road, and telephone lines are being placed underground with poles east and west moved south of the store area.

The California Electric Power Company has established a 60 day schedule to remove power poles from the frontage road area.

OLD AXIOM DEAD IN JFK VICTORY

By LOUIS CASSELS
WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the oldest axioms of American politics was relegated to history's junk heap yesterday.

John Fitzgerald Kennedy proved that a Roman Catholic CAN be elected president of the United States.

HE DID IT WITH a hairbreadth victory in which his religious faith clearly had a significant impact on American voting patterns.

Political analysts will be pawing through the presidential election returns for weeks in an effort to determine whether the religious issue helped Kennedy more than it hurt him — or vice versa.

But even a cursory study of the returns reveals strong presumptive evidence of religious "bloc voting" in many areas and on both sides.

OF THE 11 STATES which have more than 30 per cent Catholics in their population, Kennedy carried eight—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Louisiana and Hawaii.

The heavily Catholic states he failed to carry were Vermont and New Hampshire, which are traditionally Republican strongholds, and Wisconsin, where his stand on farm policies was a major issue.

ON THE OTHER HAND it appears highly plausible that Kennedy's religious affiliation was an important factor in his defeat in normally Democratic Oklahoma, Kentucky and Tennessee — all states in which fundamentalist Protestant denominations are predominant.

Kennedy also lost the southern states of Florida and Virginia, but he won narrow victories in Texas and South Carolina, where Protestant clergymen had been especially outspoken against a Catholic for president. He won by more substantial majorities in Georgia and North Carolina, which have only about 1 per cent Catholics in their populations.

Oxygen System's Bid Is Accepted

The lone bid of Hospital Oxygen Systems Corp. on furnishing and installing 23 breathing oxygen outlets in the Surgical Building at the county's General Hospital in Arlington was accepted by the Board of Supervisors this week on recommendation of Purchasing Agent Joe Cass and Administrative Officer Robert Andersen.

The bid was $2,626. The installation is to be completed with 45 days.

Incorporation Income Report Given by Carr

DESERT HOT SPRINGS—Norman Carr, president of the committee working "w" incorporation of this community, reported this week that statistics supplied by the State Board of Equalization indicated that more than $34,000 revenues would accrue to this community of 2,500 if it incorporated.

Figures supplied by John B. Marshall, senior statistician for the Equalization board, indicated sales and use tax receipts to the town would lead in revenues with $12,480 estimated, followed by motor vehicle license fee returns of $12,225.

Other major items would be $7,400 return from gasoline tax, and $2,574 for 90 per cent of liquor licenses.

Holland Truman, state forest ranger, stated the town if incorporated could continue contractual arrangements on fire protection "not on a permanent basis" but for "an indeterminate length of time" during a transition period.

Date Import Law Needed

Dates should be one of Coachella Valley's best money-making crops. Prosperity of the growers is a considerable factor in boosting the economy of this entire area. The war years, when U. S. dates did not have to compete with standard imports of the fruit and its products, served as a good example of how prosperous growers would be if they had the protection which the federal government gives to other agricultural products.

One of the best and earliest date crops in years has just been harvested by growers in the Valley who produce 90 per cent of the U. S. crop. Long subjected to this unfair competition by imports largely from Iraq and Iran, a determined effort was made this year to get a bill through Congress that would require that imports meet the same standards of quality, grade and size that have been established by the producers here. For example pitted dates (for which there is an overwhelming preference) are processed here with the greatest of care to insure a pure, wholesome produce. The deplorable processes used in preparing pitted dates and other date products by foreign growers was explained by Valley resident, Lewis Hayes, who saw it with his own eyes. Printed in the Coachella Sun, recently, the letter told of the filthy conditions prevailing in processing plants in Southern Iran.

Both Sen. Thomas Kuchel and Rep. Saund worked hard for the passage of HR 12341, designed to provide protection for both dates and walnuts against inferior imports, and the bill passed by the House but bogged down in the Senate during the extra session. The bill would have amended Sec. 8-E of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act by adding dates and walnuts to the list of imported commodities required to meet the same comparable grade requirements effective for domestic crops under federal marketing orders. It was opposed largely by import firms and cookie manufacturers who use large quantities of the imported date products. It was apparent, however, that the bill would have been passed by the Senate had it been reported out of committee.

Sen. Kuchel has said that he will introduce a Senate bill (with the same objective as HR 12341) in the next session, and California's other senator, Claire Engle, has pledged his support. A new bill will have to be introduced in the House and Rep. Saund can be depended upon to take care of that. This measure should be one of the first acted upon by the next Congress. It will be of interest in this district keep up their demand for protection—not alone for their industry but also for date consumers in this country.

Speaking on the Senate floor, Kuchel summed up the issue with this statement: "Unless this legislation is enacted, there is nothing to prevent imported dates and walnuts which do not come up to the high standards set for these products by American producers being brought into this country for sale in unlimited quantities. This would have a serious effect on the American producers and their marketing programs."

Every businessman in the Valley has a stake—directly or indirectly—in this effort to get the needed federal legislation, and should let our representatives in Congress know that the people of this Valley expect favorable action at the next session of Congress.

Ike's Career Skyrocketed

NEW YORK — It is difficult to comprehend, a shonors laden Dwight David Eisenhower packs his bags and heads for retirement, that he was a totally obscure soldier for a great portion of his life.

The best known, most traveled American President did not have his name mentioned in national newspapers until June, 1941. He was 51 years old. Wire service reporters covering the Army war games conducted that summer in Louisiana called Lt. Col. Eisenhower the brains behind the victory scored by Gen. Walter Krueger's Third Army over Lt. Gen. Ben Lear's Second Army. Ike was Krueger's Chief of Staff.

BEFORE THAT he had held a series of drab roles in military life. At West Point his highest rank was color sergeant. He graduated 61st in a class (1915) of 108. His dreams of winning fame as a football player were dashed — as was nearly his military career — when he cracked a knee. He wound up as a cheer leader. After graduation he served in a series of dull, dusty Texas posts.

World War I appeared for a time to be the vehicle he could best ride to fame, for he was a conscientious young officer completely wedded to a life in the military. But he was never given an overseas assignment.

HIS MAIN POST was command of the Tank Corps Training Center at Camp Colt, Pa. The center had no tanks, just wooden mockups. But his rank was zooming. He jumped from first lieutenant to temporary lieutenant colonel. When the war ended he was returned to the permanent rank of captain, became a permanent major a few weeks later—and remained a major for 16 years!

In the early 1930's Maj. Eisenhower came to the attention of the army's regal Chief of Staff, Douglas MacArthur. MacArthur was in need of an aide who combined several qualities. He sensed that he needed an easy-mannered, good natured, younger man to handle his outer office and soothe such officials as he might ruffle — such as demanding congressmen — and also one who could help him prepare his now-historic annual reports and his presentations to pinchpenny congressional appropriations committees.

MAJOR IKE FILLED the bill so perfectly that when MacArthur went to the Philippines in 1935 as military adviser to the Commonwealth he persuaded Eisenhower to accompany him as his senior assistant. Some time during the five years he served there under MacArthur the relations between Ike and his boss chilled. Ike was opposed to MacArthur's accepting the rank of field marshal of the Philippine armed forces. They apparently argued about this, and Eisenhower asked for reassignment. He was certain that America was going to war, that Germany probably would be the aggressor which attacked us. He wanted not to miss another World War.

ONE WEEK AFTER Pearl Harbor was hit, Eisenhower (then a permanent lieutenant colonel) was called to Washington for a mystifying meeting with his military hero, Chief of Staff Gen. George Marshall. To Eisenhower's astonishment Marshall asked him how he would fight the Pacific War if he were in charge.

Eisenhower asked for a little time, then returned with a plan which impressed Marshall so much the Chief of Staff made Ike chief of the War Plans Division. In less than two years he jumped from leaf colonel to five-star general, an unprecedented vault.

IT WAS his transparent friendliness, manliness and ability to get along with people of opposing views and at the same time keep them headed toward a prescribed goal that made Eisenhower the apple of Marshall's eye.

The Chief sent Ike to England six months after we entered the war with instructions to bring back a plan best suited to coral all allied power, such as it was, under a single command. Ike returned, laid the plan before Marshall, and was stunned when Marshall said, in effect, "Fine, you take command."

IKE DIDN'T MEET President Roosevelt until November, 1942, shortly before the invasion of North Africa. The President was much more familiar with Milton Eisenhower, one of the bright young men under Henry Wallace in the old Agricultural Adjustment Administration. It was Roosevelt who made the decision later to name Ike as Supreme Commander — a post which Ike always felt would go to Marshall.

The rest, of course, is history. The war, the tensions of the post-war world, NATO and the presidency catapulted the once-obscure officer into renown that hardly has had a parallel in history. The crowds that greeted him during the world trips that marked his last year in office were indescribably huge and receptive.

There is no ultimate word for President Eisenhower as he heads for the wings of the world stage. It is conceivable that some tortured turn in world events could bring him back on stage, as retired men before him have been recalled. But it would be hoped that his retirement will be without tension; that he will find at long last the peace for which he has battled for half a century. —Bob Considine

This Side of The Sun By Phat

There are signs that read easy Others are tough. It's the latter that make the Driving so rough.

While not an exact quotation, it's the gist of what the guy, dunking doughnuts next to me the other morning, said.

COUPLA DAYS AGO, he took off, you wrote something about signs.

"Well, that got me thinking about signs—street signs.

"If you're not acquainted with the town and try to find some place by street signs, you're in for trouble.

"Seems to me that there ought to be a state law making all signs uniform.

"NOW, YOU TAKE Palm Springs. Some of our intersections are well marked. Of course, I'm in favor of a street sign on all four corners as they have in my home town. You can't miss then.

"But here in Palm Springs, there's no set pattern. Most intersections only have one, some have two.

"Some are on the same level on the post so that one hides the other one and you have to stop to see where you are.

"SOME OF OUR SIGNS are o.k. They are centered on the posts one above the other so that neither is hidden. But we haven't got enough of those.

"And some of them are tucked away from the actual corner, back a few feet, with bushes and tree branches hiding them.

"I had some friends from the east drive here to see me last week and if it hadn't been for the helpfulness of a policeman, they never would have found me."

SO THE NEXT TIME I was out and about, I took a look at our street signs. The man is right. They are varied and different.

Some intersections have one sign only, on the same level so that one street name is obscured. Some have two and some have the signs one above the other, both centered, so that each is easy to read.

I LIKE the system that is becoming more and more employed in a lot of cities.

White letters on green half-way down the block.

For instance, on P. Canyon Drive. On the west side, half way between Amado and Andreas say, a green sign: ANDREAS.

And on the other side for north-bound traffic, another green and white sign, AMADO.

Nobody would miss then.

If they did that just on Highway 111 and Indian avenue, perhaps Ramon, finding places would be easy for our visitors.

WE COULD take a tip from the freeways. Anyone who can read should never get lost there. Of course, we wouldn't have to go into the detail they do.

One simple sign, a half block before the intersection would do it.

There I go again and the City Council will be linked because a change over to uniform signs would cost money.

But we do have a lot of people here each winter who do not know the town and depend on street signs to guide them.

STAN DELAPLANE:

Private Eyeful

Homeward last night in the autumn dusk and paused long enough to pluck a pocket-size book from the rack of gleaming varnished covers: "Murder Me Lovingly."

"I took a bottle of rye from the desk drawer and slugged it. Hard. My secretary was typing a letter. A cute kid with sweaters one size too small. But not for me.

"THIS WASN'T getting me the missing DeWitt pearls."

If the private-eye business was like that, I would get into it myself.

THIS IS NOT the way I remember the private-eye business. Private eyes were a source of spiritual inspiration to me when I was molding public opinion for the dailies.

Ladies were the clients of the private investigators.

"HAS MY LOVING Johnny been here, there or anywhere?" The private eye would then go out and bug the suspected apartment.

On the proper evening, investigator and irate wife would bust down the door and, oh, me, oh, my, dear.

THIS WAS THE juice that ran our journalistic mills. Hearts and flowers. Weak flesh and strong emotions.

Once I asked a private eye about HIS life.

"What about all this deep-dish apple pie you people have in your office?" I said, nudging him in the ribs. "You know, the secretary who is 'not for you.'"

HE SAID: "MY secretary is ALL for me. My secretary is my wife. She screens the clients."

He did not say it with enthusiasm that I read in the varnished-cover books.

ANYWAY, I READ this book from polished cover to cover. What beatings the private eye takes!

"I felt like I'd been run over by a truck. My eyes were black and there was a lump on the side of my head like a football. Little Angie's boys could be rough!"

However, he was out of bed

Stengel Sought

HOLLYWOOD — Producer Herb Sargent is seeking the services of Casey Stengel for one of the specials he's writing. How, I asked Herb, can anybody write dialogue for Casey Stengel, who speaks his own peculiar language? "You're right," said Sargent. "But if he'll just say yes I'll let him face everything he does!"

As most all successful young actors, Troy Donahue of the new Surfbide 6 series bought him self a Cadillac.

BOB HOPE SAYS he's glad the Election's over because now he can quit betting on it and start making book on the Late-Late Movie plots.

Rick Jason complained about starting Jean Blake looking too young to play his romantic vis-à-vis in one segment of his new Dangerous Robin series (in other words, Jean made the actor look too old!) -- so they took her out and aged her in a Hollywood beauty shoppe by graying her hair.

GUY LOMBARDO invades "Wetland" (Hollywood's Aragon Ballroom) for a one-night stand this week. And Lawrence Welk has promised Guy the use of his bubble machines!

It's those hefty psychiatrists' fees, claims Jerry Lewis, that put the "ouch" in couch.

Skip (Lineup) Ward got a refund on the ring he purchased for Ziva Rodann, who doesn't need it now that she's attached to Cary Grant.

HOLLYWOOD HOTSTUFF -- Efrem Zimbalist tells me he played it safe on the Election. The only bet he made was that it wouldn't rain in Hollywood on Tuesday.

British star Frankie Vaughan played it cozy too. He stuck a Winston Churchill sticker on his car.

Andy Griffith contributed to my pre-election inspection of the nation's political complexion with this one about his kindred in the South: "They're the same as everyone else — they'll be takin' their own sweet time markin' them X's on them there ballot sheets!"

FINALLY, LAWRENCE Welk turned up with the info that, even with all the charges and countercharges between the two candidates, both had their congratulatory wires all written out early Tuesday. Kennedy's (said Welk) read "Dear Dick, You've Tured the Trick" and Nixon's read "Dear Jack, I'm Coming Back."

Marilyn Monroe had her post-Election day plans all made out as early as a week ago. The minute she finished shooting The Misfits at Paramount, she told a pal, she would take off SOLO for a visit in Las Vegas, while Arthur Miller meandered back to Manhattan, also solo.

A YOUNG ACTOR named Alan Baron wrote a screenplay about a murder — by contract character, Blast of Silence. Then he produced and directed it, with himself in the starring role, and sold it to U-I for release. If the "murder — by — contract" gimmick sounds familiar, remember Sidney Howard once said that the age and service-strips of a story have little to do with its eligibility — it's the new twists you give it!

Jayne Mansfield's director on it happened in Athens, now shooting in Greece, had to insert a line of dialogue to show how a flashy blonde like his star could be gadding about Greece in 1896, as stipulated in the screenplay. Even the director had to admit that the line, as spoken by Nico Minardos, has all the indelible grace, dancing lightness and d. shining precision (???) of Power's Elephants, a ponderous old vaudeville act, it goes: "Since you've been to America and had your hair dyed, you've had funny ideas."

Further fodder on the same film: it will boast one complete credit card for Greek actors Nick Hatzigeorgakis, Fofi Papanikolaou and Paris Maschoropoulos. And if they run out of space they can always use another card.

Roger Williams on Christmas Singing Tour

ITHACA, N. Y. — A Palm Springs student will make a European tour with the Cornell University Glee Club during the Christmas holidays.

Roger A. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Williams of 373 Monte Vista Drive, Palm Springs, will sing in concerts in Moscow, Stalingrad, and Westminster Abbey in London. The concerts in the Soviet Union will be the first ever given there by an organized American student group. Williams, who is in the College of Arts and Sciences, sings 2nd tenor.

SEVEN HUNDRED guests were invited to attend the reception which followed the wedding of Linda Ortega, daughter of Peggy and Mercedes Ortega, and Raymond Welms, son of William and Lorene McGlamary. Here the newlyweds are shown in front of their huge 5-tiered cake, along with a few of the wedding guests. The bridegroom is a member of one of Palm Springs' wealthiest Indian families, and holder of some of the most valuable land in the city. (P. S. News-photo)

Ferrall's Playhouse Preps for Season

By GEORGE LAINE
On Jan. 12, the doors of the Ferrall's Playhouse at Deep Well will swing wide and the second season of this force-started professional theater will be underway.

The first play will be "Pleasure of His Company," Samuel Taylor's very funny effort which drew an almost unanimous wave of critical acclaim in New York.

THERE WILL BE much more to tell about the beginnings of this next season since Mike and Marrian Ferrall are still in the process of casting the play, selecting their resident company, retaining other employees and the like.

But a portion of the Deep Well Playhouse story is now available for a public which has already served ample notice that it can and will support this venture.

The official kickoff for the season is being withheld at this time because of the possibility of some very warming news, but the announcement should be ready momentarily.

WHAT CAN BE TOLD is that Joan Woodbury Wilcoxon, who only last week signed to direct courses in drama for the Power agency here, has been hired to direct publicity, public relations, general management and other allied facilities for the Ferralls.

What this announcement means is that Mike and Marrian will be free to produce, to direct, to cast and complete the myriad other tasks that are within the province of a producing-directing team. It makes so much sense that you almost have to hold your breath for the potential of this forthcoming season.

Mrs. Wilcoxon's abilities — already solidly proven through her seven-year building job with the Nativity Play in Santa Monica — will lend a great, a direct improvement to that phase of the Playhouse work that falls under her responsibility.

ANOTHER REVISION for the Deep Well Playhouse will be a long awaited one, a scaling of the house that will place a realistic figure on all seats.

It has never been a reasonable assumption that a seat against the wall is comparable to a ringside chair. Now, for the first time, there will be a direct appropriation of this reasonable assumption to the prices for tickets.

What's more, under the new plan even the best seats will be available at a $65 (plus tax) price for the 14-play season. (The minimum scale will run in at $28.50 for the 14 plays, again plus Uncle's bite.)

LAST SEASON SAW such great talents as Imogene Coca, King Donovan, Vivian Vance, George Montgomery, Pamela Brittain, Clause Johnson, and a host of others cross the Deep Well stage.

Many of these will doubtless be returning this year, plus a number of other star caliber performers contacted by either Mike or Marrian during the summer.

In addition, Mike spent his time reading an average of two or three plays weekly and has decided he'd like to produce such things as "The Warm Peninsula," "Marriage Go-Round," "Silent Night," "Lonely Night" and maybe even "Anniversary Waltz" or "Finian's Rainbow."

In any event, the forthcoming season looks like it'll lack nothing in interest, impact and drive. (Get your tickets as soon as they're available.)

JOHNNY KREHBIEL, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, explained the election away by noting that he thought "the minority vote is what killed us."

He pegged the religious issue first but added that "there is a large Mexican vote which could go heavily Catholic, and there is a large Negro vote."

And, John could have added, there was also the English vote, the Italian vote, the German vote, the Scotch vote, the Hungarian vote, the Jewish vote, the Irish vote — and all the rest of those darned minorities.

GENERAL ELECTRIC will observe Public Schools Week with a network program titled "The Influential Americans," at 9 p.m., Sunday on KNXT.

Thematic material is education, according to word from Dr. Dwight Twist, superintendent of the local school district.

He wants all Villagers who have interests in the school system here to watch the show.

NOTES OFF THE CUFF: My buddy Dave Shapiro blew into town yesterday and was living it up at the Riviera Hotel last night while your favorite columnist was playing "solid citizen" at the School-Community dinner.

Arthur Godfrey had an operation yesterday (he's okay). . . . Bob Taylor is due to be sprung today after an operation. . . . And the Internal Revenue Service is trying to operate on Vic Damone for the removal of $45,235 in back taxes.

So what else is new? Mayor Frank Bogert told Sun Reporter Fred Weigel that he's got one of those new-fangled washing machines that "tears the buttons off and gives 'em back to you in a little box." (It's not funny unless you happen to own one.)

'ARE PEOPLE DULL?' IS CLARKE PROBE FOR TONIGHT HERE

Are most people really dull or merely dull observers? That's the question that John Robert Clarke will explore with liberal help from the great Renaissance artist, architect, flute-player and canon - maker Leonardo Da Vinci, this Thursday night at 8 p.m. at the Palm Springs Biltmore.

Third in the current Discussion - Teasers series of public lectures, given also each week in San Diego as well as locally, Clarke's talk, "Leonardo da Vinci and Modern Anxiety" will spotlight one of the most brilliant yet corrupt ages of man to place in perspective Da Vinci's insights into the art of observation — "living through the eyes" — for greater enjoyment in life.

Clarke, author of "The Importance of Being Imperfect" which is due for release in New York by David McKay Company early in February, recently returned from a five month globe - trotting venture which found him completing drafts of his book on the tiny island of Ydra in the Saronic Gulf south of Greece.

At the request of the commissioners of the Idyllwild Fire Protection District, an appointee will not be named by the Board of Supervisors to replace Frank Higdon who has resigned.

STREBE REPORTS LOSS OF $2,000 IN FENCE MATERIAL

Palm Springs councilman and theatre operator Earle Strebe reported to police today that approximately $2,000 of fencing materials had been taken from his place at 1350 Tachevah Drive.

Strebe told officers he had failed to report the theft which apparently took place in August because he thought his auditor had made a report.

CVAPC IN SUPPORT OF THERMAL AIRPORT BID

The Coachella Valley Advisory Planning Committee joined the Coachella Valley Economic Development Committee this week in urging the Board of Supervisors to improve conditions at Thermal Airport.

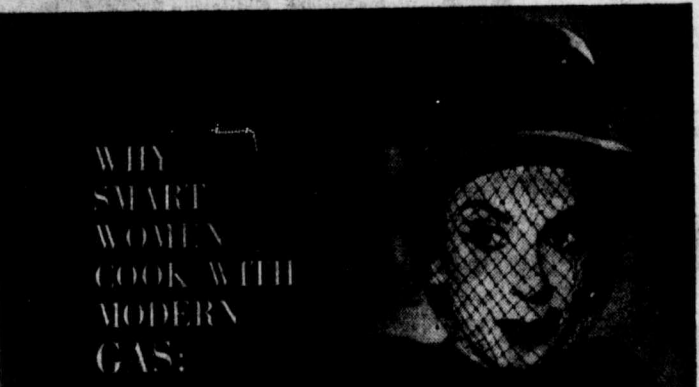

C. J. McKillop, assistant county airports director, told the supervisors that the airport commission will consider the painting or reconditioning of the old warehouse at its next meeting, Nov. 22, and promised in the meantime to improve the parking area, trim trees, paint hangar window trim, level and seed the acreage north of the hangar, and erect proper signs designating the buildings, offices, and parking area.

These improvements are the result of demands by the economic development committee.

The request from the advisory committee, that the airport be brought up to safety standards, was referred to the airport commission. Richard B. Kite, secretary of the committee, complained that due to the condition of the runways, planes are constantly being damaged by gravel spray and chuck holes.

Manufacturing wages and salaries in Arkansas in 1959 were up 14 per cent over 1958.

Presenting the 1961

Thunderbird

The new adventure in excellence... keyed to the West

Changes in so unique and desirable a car have always been approached with restraint. Although unmistakably new, the Thunderbird for 1961 retains its classic lines, its ideally compact size and its 4-passenger luxury. But within those self-imposed limits now come major advancements to carry on the great Thunderbird tradition.

An engineering "first" has been achieved in a steering wheel* that literally moves—as much as ten inches to the right—when the transmission is set in the "PARK" position. This permits unbelievable ease in entering and leaving the driver's seat.

A trio of power assists has been made standard equipment this year—larger power brakes that now adjust themselves automatically, new power steering that reduces effort by 65% while providing even better road feel, and vacuum-controlled Cruise-O-Matic transmission.

In addition to many engineering miracles is a brilliant, new design concept that will appeal to the most discriminating tastes while actually contributing to passenger comfort and convenience.

This, then, is Thunderbird for '61, truly an ultimate car for those who demand simple elegance, superb craftsmanship and unmatched performance. The highest resale record for any luxury car attests to its value. Judge it on the road soon but see it now... at your nearby Ford dealer's.

Of Education Week

Schools throughout the nation are observing American Education Week, Nov. 6 through Nov. 12.

Annually sponsored jointly by the Congress of Parents and Teachers and the American Legion, the theme for this year is "Strengthen Schools for the 60's."

THE NOVEMBER ISSUE of the National Parent-Teacher Magazine carries a Salute to Our Schools which reads in part: "Our schools are the nation's pride and the nation's scapegoat. In the past decade they have been praised extravagantly, criticized mercilessly, blamed unreasonably. If we would strengthen our schools for the 60's, let us reassess their assignments, set reasonable expectations, and provide the resources they need. Let us praise our schools justly, and soberly appraise our efforts to support them." As part of the national weekly observance all schools are open to visitors.

BACK TO SCHOOL Night will be held at the Nellie N. Coffman Junior High School on Thursday, Nov. 10, and the Board of Education will hold its regular meeting on the Junior High Campus on the same evening.

Part of the meeting will be devoted to a special discussion on the Conant Report on Junior High Schools, with parents and teachers in attendance.

U.S. Government To Participate In Airport Work

Official written agreement for federal government participation in the cost of the widening and lengthening of the runway at Ryan Airport near Hemet was received by the Board of Supervisors this week. Low bidder for the project was Fontana Paving, Inc. with a bid of $67,544.80.

The Federal Aviation Agency is to pay 54 per cent of the cost of the project. The maximum amount set for participation was $50,325. This includes 54 per cent of the cost of construction of the runway and a parallel taxiway ($36,474.03) and 54 per cent of the cost of acquisition of aviation easements at the west end of the runway.

C. J. McKillop, assistant airports director, said construction will get under way within 60 days.

NIKITA ALL WET WITH CRITICISM OF U.S. 'BARZHOM'

NEW YORK (AP) — American ingenuity came to the front when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on his recent visit here took a swipe at the United States because it had no "barzhom," a mineral water popular in Russia.

Edward P. Schinman, a chemical engineer and president of Bogue Electric Manufacturing Co., succeeded in duplicating the product and offered Khrushchev all the barzhom he wanted.

"It was just another way of demonstrating to him that here again is an example of how he tends to underestimate the resources of this country," Schinman said.

Bunches of Books Arrive at Library

By LYLE SMITH

The new books come in bunches during the last of October and the first weeks of November, boxes of books with bright, promising covers and tantalizing pages: too many for the week-ends, a whole winter's reading all at once. In one batch were these . . .

HELEN MACINNES adventure thriller "Decision in Delphi," a match for last year's "North From Rome," as exciting, but safer, as if you were the one traveling in strange foreign parts with mysterious companions. "Spurs West," a collection of western short-stories edited by S. Omar Barker, all written by members of the Western Writers of America, featuring the winners of the Spur awards which are given annually to the best of the western writers of fiction. These are wonderful stories, full of vigor. "Spurs West" will be in the 7-day section, being brand new, but if it is out when you look for it, the last collection of the Western Writers of America is called "Frontiers West" and is in the regular Western section.

FOR NERO WOLFE admirers, epicures, and mystery addicts generally there was a new Rex Stout "Too Many Clients," in which Archie Goodwin, that cross between Lochinvar and the gray-flannel-suit, goes looking for people with problems, and finds beautiful girls, one deceased.

Last week we got "Hangman's Song" by Jess Shelton, a novel with the feel of a ballad, about a boy named Jamie Mathews who searches for his father through a primitive middle west, and on out beyond the farthest settlements.

AND LAST WEEK John Ross MacDonald's "The End of the Night," a mystery . . . or a novel, a book on the borderlines of category. Sometimes this happens. Last year there was the same question about Roswald's "Level 7," and before that about Nevil Shute's "On the Beach" . . . are they straight novels?

A few years ago they would automatically have been marked Science Fiction, but not now. Now they are not fantastic. A few years ago "The End of the Night" would have been a mystery, exciting to read. You would have slept peacefully after reading. Not now.

SOME GOOD mysteries crept in at the end of the summer that you may have missed: a thriller-diller of a spy story, "The Last of Adrian Messenger" by Philip M. MacDonald; and a new Upfield called "The Valley of Smugglers." Perhaps you have never discovered Napoleon Bonaparte, the half-aborigine Detective Inspector of Australia, who seems altogether impossible, but soon is real, charming, delightful as he uses his peculiar talent in the thinly peopled outback of Australia.

AND YESTERDAY came the best box of all, full of mysteries by the very best known writers. Andrew Garve's "The Far Sands" is one. Hammond Innes "The Doomed Oasis" is another. There is a brand new Michael Shayne mystery, "The Homicidal Virgin" by Brett Halliday; and "The Last Commandment" by George Harmon Cox; a Bayard Kendrick called "Hot Red Money" and a David Alexander, "Pennies From Hell."

At the bottom of the pile is another Rex Stout, "Three at Wolfe's Door" . . . and there will be more next week.

CHICAGO VOTER IRATE—CAN'T VOTE FOR HIS SPOUSE

CHICAGO (AP) —George Jones protested Tuesday when election officials wouldn't let him vote once for himself and again for his wife.

Told he couldn't exercise his wife's franchise, Jones protested "Why not? I told her how to vote."

Stengle May Pilot Detroit

GLENDALÉ (UP) — The wrinkled, well-worn face belonging to Charles Dillon (Casey) Stengle just might be a fixture next baseball season in the clubhouse of the Detroit Tigers.

The famous ex-New York Yankee manager, a pinch to get his likeness into the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, says he "might be interested" in getting it into Detroit's Briggs Stadium.

Stengle was scheduled to talk with two Tigers' officials at his home here today.

Injuries Sideline Powell of Raiders

OAKLAND (UP) — Defensive end Charlie Powell of the Oakland Raiders may be sidelined next Sunday in the American Football League game with the Buffalo Bills. Powell suffered bruised ribs last Friday night in the Raiders' 34-28 loss to the Boston Patriots.

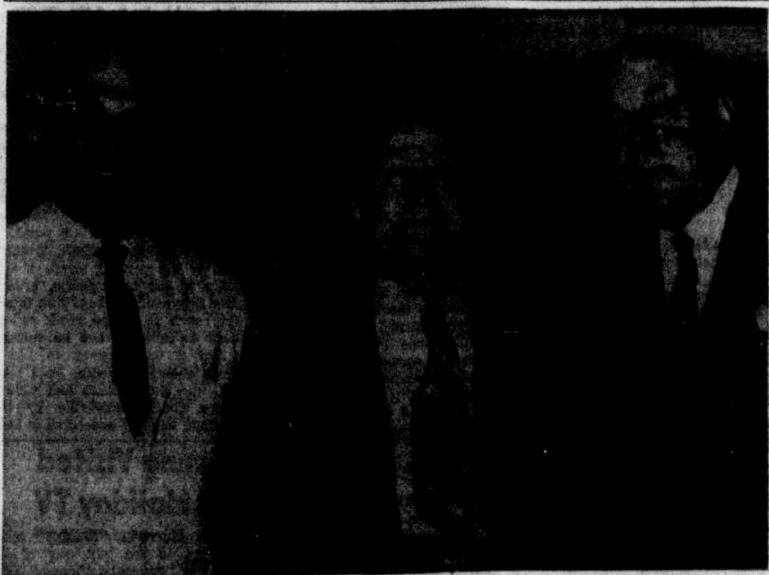

Lake Mead Record Expected to Fall

LAS VEGAS (UP) — Owners and drivers of the unlimited hydroplanes going through qualifying runs on Lake Mead behind Hoover Dam won't say who will win the 53rd running of the famed Gold Cup Race, top event of motor boating this weekend, but they agreed today the 1960 race could be the greatest in history.

Judging from the qualifying runs in trials the past two days, which continue today and Friday, the experts said the fastest heat time in Gold Cup history of 108.7

Indian, Coachella Jayvees To Tangle There Tonight

Papoose Grids In Good Shape For Big One

With his squad in good physical condition with the exception of captain Stan DeGruccio, out for the season and Ernie Reyes still taped up but rounding back into playing form, coach Cal Farley takes his Palm Springs Junior Varsity griders to Coachella this afternoon to meet the Arabees at 6 p.m. in the Date Bowl.

Coachella Valley's Junior Varsity was undefeated and tied with the Papooses up to last Thursday when they were upended by Indio Jayvee, 19 to 13.

PALM SPRINGS Jayvee is the only undefeated team in the Desert Valley League in their division. They have a 3-0 DVL mark and a 6-0 overall season mark.

A win over Coachella (2-1) tonight would clinch a tie for Palm Springs and could mean the title in the Junior Varsity division.

RAY ROBERTS, the leading JV scorer who did not suit up against Yucaipa last week, will be back tonight. In five games he has scored 15 touchdowns for an average of three per game or 18 points.

Ernie Reyes was back in the Yucaipa game for a few minutes just enough to boot a conversion. He has been out with an injured leg.

IN OTHER JAYVEE games today, Banning meets Indio at Indio High at 2:30 p.m. while Yucaipa goes to Twenty-nine Palms at 6 p.m.

One Varsity game will be played tonight, Indio playing Banning there at 7 p.m.

CANADIANS SWAP GRIDERS MONTREAL — (UP) — The Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League have traded quarterback Sam Elcheverry and end Hal Patterson to the Hamilton Tigercats for quarterback Bernie Faloney and defensive end Don Paquette.

Maris Edges Mantle as AL Top Player

Wins in Close Vote By Three Points Over Teammate

BOSTON (UP) — Outfielder Roger Maris of the New York Yankees today wearily adjusted his crown for winning the American League's Most Valuable Player award after the closest finish in 13 years.

By leading the league in runs batted in, Maris, squeezed through the winner over teammate Mickey Mantle Wednesday, polling 225 points to Mantle's 222. Brooks Robinson, Baltimore's fine young third baseman, finished in a close third with 211 points in balloting by the nation's baseball writers.

THE ONLY CLOSER finish in 30 years of voting by the writers was in 1947 when Joe Di Maggio of the Yankees nipped Boston's Ted Williams by one vote, 202 to 201. This year was the first time that three players ever received 200 or more points.

Maris compiled a .263 batting average while topping the loop in RBI's and trailing league leader Mantle by one in home runs—39 to 40. It was Roger's torrid bat over the first half the season, plus Mantle's hitting over the second half, that lifted the Yanks into the pennant despite their mediocre pitching.

"I THOUGHT it was possible but I wasn't expecting to win it," said a surprised Maris from his Raytown, Mo., home. This certainly is a happy feeling. Every player in the American League likes to win this at least once before he retires. It's the greatest award that comes out of the league.

Maris was a prize package picked up from the Kansas City Athletics last winter, coming to the Yankees along with infielders Joe DeMaestri and Kent Handley in exchange for pitcher Don Larsen and outfielders Hank Bauer, Norm Siebern and Marv Throneberry.

"THAT TRADE WAS the turning point in my career, and without it I could never have received the Most Valuable Player award. 'I'm the same player I was with the Athletics in 1959, but it always helps to play for a pennant winner,' the 26 - year - old Maris said.

The rest of the top ten finishers in the balloting were: Minnie Minoso of Chicago; Ron Hansen of Baltimore; Al Smith of Chicago; Roy Sievers of Chicago; Earl Battey of Washington, Bill Skowron of New York and Jim Lemon of Washington.

Chicago second baseman Nellie Fox, last year's winner, was 18th.

Kiner Expects No Trouble in Dates In L.A. Coliseum

LOS ANGELES (UP) — The Coliseum Commission was expected today to decide on recommendations from its baseball and scheduling committees regarding Los Angeles' new American League franchise.

Ralph Kiner, one of the prospective officials of the new organization along with Hank Greenberg, attorney Harold Morton and several others, said he expects everything to go smoothly at the commission meeting and at the league meeting Nov. 17 in New York.

"I anticipate no trouble at the Coliseum meeting," Kiner said. "None of the dates for which we applied conflicts with Dodger plans. And the contract terms, which I understand will be about the same for both clubs, are acceptable."

International Draws Field Of 11 Horses

Rate Bald Eagle Favorite in Race Among Six Nations

LAUREL, Md. (UP) — America's Bald Eagle loomed the probable favorite today to win Friday's renewal of the $100,000 Washington D. C. International and become the first horse in history to win the global classic twice.

Eleven horses from six countries have gathered at Laurel race course for the mile and one-half gallop over the grass course with Italy represented in the horse Olympics for the first time.

Also slated to run were Harmonizing from the U.S., France's Puissant Chef and Hautain, Apostle 2nd and Prolific from England, Zabeg and Zadorny from Russia with Zadorny carrying the silks of the Ukraine, Ireland's Farnley Fox, and the Italians, Rio Marin and Santa Severa, a filly.

Harmonizing, picked up from the claiming ranks four months ago, was named yesterday to start in place of the injured Sword Dancer. No immediate odds were listed on the six-year-old son of Counter Point who upset both Bald Eagle and Sword Dancer in the recent Man O'War Stakes at Belmont Park.

Bald Eagle, winner in record time a year ago, is ridden by Manny Ycaza.

YOUNG ACTRESS

Jane Fonda Set On Person Show

"Person to Person" spans the nation Thursday, Nov. 10 for visits with young actress Jane Fonda in New York City and veteran actress Mary Astor in California (CBS Television Network, 10-10:30 p.m.).

Miss Fonda will be seen in her new, as yet unfurnished apartment in midtown Manhattan, Miss Astor in her home in Pacific Palisades, Calif.

IT WASN'T until the summer of 1956 that Jane Fonda seriously thought of acting. She had been living with her father, actor Henry Fonda, in California, when she was approached by neighbors Lee Strasberg, director and dramatic coach, and actor Marty Freed, who asked, "Why don't you act?"

MARY ASTOR, born Lucille V. Langhanke, broke into Hollywood films back in 1920 after winning a beauty contest. Ten years later she switched to the legitimate theatre and has returned to the stage periodically since then.

She has appeared in such wonderful successful plays as "Tiger at the Gates," "Don Juan in Hell" and "Time of the Cuckoo." She is currently appearing in the Broadway play "Invitation to a March."

"Person to Person" is hosted by Charles Collingwood.

COLBERT STARS IN WEST DRAMA

Claudette Colbert stars as a gentle Southern woman whose husband has been hardened and embittered by the brutal struggle for survival in the post-war West, in "So Young the Savage Land" on "Dick Powell's Zane Grey Theatre" Thursday, Nov. 10 (CBS Television Network, 8:30-9 p.m.).

Miss Colbert, as Beth, is horrified by the growing strain of violence in the once gentle, artistic Jim Brayden. She begs him to sell the ranch at a good profit and go back to Atlanta, but he refuses.

Jim is called away to join a posse chasing a youth, Paul Marle, who shot a man and stole a horse, deeds punishable by immediate hanging according to frontier law.

As Beth is packing to leave Jim, the teen-age fugitive, severely wounded and hard-pressed by the posse, seeks last ditch cover in the ranch house.

Featured with Miss Colbert are John Denver as Jim and Chris Robinson as Paul Marle. Also in the cast are Dean Stanton as Toby, Roy Barcroft as Mike, Lee Kross as Roy, and Perry Cook as Henry Sloan.

"So Young the Savage Land" was written by associate producer Stephen Lord from a story by Rudolph Roderick, and directed by Richard Donner. "Dick Powell's Zane Grey Theatre" is produced by Aaron Spelling, with Powell as host.

Charles Becker To Note Triple Anniversaries

Charles E. Becker, well known winter resident and president of the Franklin Life Insurance Company of Springfield, Ill., will observe a triple anniversary on Nov. 13.

It will be his 65th birthday, his 21st year as president of the company, and the 76th anniversary of the founding of Franklin Life.

Finch Attorney Seeks Loophole

LOS ANGELES UP — Dr. R. Bernard Finch's attorney today examined a possible legal loophole through which the surgeon might be able to escape a third trial on charges of murdering his wife and thus go free.

Attorney Grant B. Cooper said the technicality centers around possible double jeopardy as a result of Superior Judge Leroy Dawson's discharging of the second Finch-Tregoff murder trial jury Monday.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Nov. 10, the 315th day of the year with 51 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history: In 1775, the Continental Congress authorized the U. S. Marine Corps.

In 1871, newspaperman and explorer Henry Stanley discovered missing Scottish missionary and explorer David Livingstone in Africa.

In 1888, 13-year-old Viennese boy Fritz Kreisler made his debut as a concert violinist at Steinway Hall in New York.

In 1917, 41 women from 11 states of the union were arrested outside the White House for suffragette demonstrations.

In 1918, Kaiser Wilhelm II and about 30 followers asked for asylum in The Netherlands.

Thought for today: German philosopher Georg Hegel said: "Peoples and governments never have learned anything from history, or acted on principles deduced from it."
